Tul Fully Supports the CrossFire™ Platform

Multiply & Conquer for Ultimate Gaming Performance –

3DMark 2005 Score Hits 10,000!

TAIPEI, TAIWAN (June 1, 2005) Following ATI's lead, Tul Corporation today is proudly announcing that both Tul's motherboards and graphics cards fully support the CrossFire platform. Tul also has the privileges of showcasing the CrossFire system in its booth – F252, Hall 2 – at this year's Computex Taipei. This once again proves that Tul is the closest Add-in-Board (AiB) and Chipset partner of ATI's.

CrossFire is the ultimate multi-GPU consumer graphics solution, igniting an entirely new gaming experience with the power multiply Radeon® GPUs within a single PC. CrossFire accelerates all your games, all the times, and delivers the highest image quality modes and resolutions with no special software or patches needed for compatibility.

The system being demonstrated at Tul's booth starts with a CrossFire ready motherboard based on ATI's Radeon XPRESS 200 chipset, plus the CrossFire Edition co-processor board and PowerColor's X850 XT PCIe graphics card. It is worth to mention that Tul takes in AMD's Athlon™ 64 X2 Dual-Core Processor - 4800+ that is also being newly introduced during Computex. The system performance is absolutely being enhanced and the 3DMark 2005 score even reaches over 10,000!

"We are very excited to see this breaking-through 3DMark result, and determine to continuously being ATI's No. 1 partner. We also look forward to the secure relationships with major vendors like AMD," says Ted Chen, C.E.O. of Tul Corporation.
